at startup investors'

16 In By Gadkari Called Off

the event is advertised as 'World's Biggest Funding Festival. Ever.'

Sachin Chauhan, a Gurgaon-based entrepreneur, was one of the 16 participants who went to the police.

"I bought a ticket for Rs 19,900 and was planning to pitch my startup to investors. We were told we would get to meet a number of investors who would eventually pump in money in three days if they liked our projects. The scenario here is totally different. It's shocking," he told TOI.

Additional DCP Askok Kumar, however, said the Friday protest was because of a technical glitch. "The glitch didn't allow the Union minister to inaugurate the event. Later, Gadkari was supposed to come live around 1.30pm, but that, too, was cancelled because of the protests. We are still investigating the allegations against the organisers and they are being questioned. We have deployed a police team at the venue so that there is no law and order issue," he added.

Arvind Kumar, ACP-1, said the event would continue on Sunday.

"The event and the website of the organisers are authentic. We will investigate the allegations," he added.
